The Margaret & Trammell Crow Collection of Asian Art

China: Impermanent Beauty 1996-97, Photographs by Ka Yeung

Through May 16

The newly dedicated gallery space at the Crow Collection, LinkAsia, will present artworks that provide a contemporary global path to understanding Asia through unique perspectives and mediums. Coinciding with the reveal of the space is yet another launch, Ka Yeung. While visiting China in 1996-97, Yeung wished to specifically view the Yangtze River (Long River) before the middle stream was flooded by the Three Gorges Dam. A large part of Chinese history relates to this river and for Yeung, it is a significant example of change in our world.

Blossoming Stone: Qing Dynasty Jade

Through August 1

This special exhibition presents a selection of over 100 pieces from the museum's jade collection. This impressive and diverse collection was formed by the late Trammell Crow in a period spanning over three decades. Guided by his discerning connoisseurship and instinct for beauty, Trammell created this collection that is the heart and soul of the Crow Collection of Asian Art.

MUSEUM HOURS: Tuesday-Sunday (10am-5pm); open Thursday until 9pm; closed Monday; Admission is always free. A guided tour of the permanent collection is offered every Thursday at 6:30pm and begins in the lobby.

Dallas Museum of Art

Performance/Art

Through March 21; Barrel Vault and Hanley, Lamont, Rachofsky, and Stoffel Galleries

In celebration of the opening of the Dallas Center for the Performing Arts, the DMA organized an exhibition of the work of five international and American artists who have used the forms and ideas surrounding performance, including opera and theater works, as starting points for paintings, sculpture, films, and photographs. Visit www.dma-art.org for a list of collections.

The Lens of Impressionism:

Photography and Painting Along the Normandy Coast, 1850-1874

Through May 23; Chilton Gallery I

The Lens of Impressionism is an exploration of Impressionist painting's response to early photography within the context of a single geographic locale that was intensely explored by painters and photographers in the second half of the 19th century, the coast of Normandy. The convergence of social, artistic, technological and commercial forces dramatically transformed the course of photography and painting, ultimately making a profound impact on the history of early Impressionism. Among the artists represented here are Claude Monet, Edouard Manet, and Gustave Courbet, and photographers Gustav Le Gray, Henri Le Secq, and Louis-Alphonse Davanne.
